During the Columbian celebration last fall physicians were put to some annoyance try-ing to get through the police lines. The Board of Aldermen passed an ordinance giving the of Aidermen passed an ordinance giving the Superintendent of Police power to issue passes to physicians who want them.

It seems that this ordinance is practically unknown to the medical profession, as not more than a dozen physicians have applied for permits. They are issued on the presentation of a certificate of registration and the personal appearance of the physician desiring the permit. They permit the bearer to pass the police lines at fires as well as to pass Broadway or Fifth avenue when it is cleared for a parade.

LAWYER HEINZELMAN SENT TO JAIL He Failed to Turn Over to a Cilent All the Money He Had Collected,

An order for the commitment of Lawyer John R. Heinzelman to Ludlow street jail for falling to pay $183.03 which he had collected for William Cook, a Southerner, was signed by Justice Barrett of the Supreme Court yester-

Justice Barrett of the Supreme Court yesterday.

While Cook was visiting this city on May 12, 1888, he met Josephine Morris in the street. She robbed him of $400, and when she was arrested $245 was recovered and given to the property clerk. Heinzelman was employed by Cook to get it, and Cook gave him $25 as a retainer. He collected the money, but gave only part to Cook. Justice Barrett on April 6 directed him to pay $103.03 within three days. He paid only $10.

Heinzelman was assigned by the Court in 1800 to defend Jugiro, the Japanese murderer, and after Jugiro's conviction and sentence the discovery was made that Heinzelman had never been admitted to the bar, although be had been practising for several years. Much sympathy was expressed for him. He was not punished, and afterward was admitted to the bar.

These furs were marked with the firm's trade mark. "R." On Friday a well-dressed young man, who said he was John Morris of Chicago, entered the store and offered to sell some fine mink and skunk furs which had been sent him by his uncle in Chicago. Mr. Blourock accompanied him to 73 East 108tin street, and noticed that the skins shown him bore no trade mark and that out of every skin a small piece had been cut and the hole sewn together with fine thread. Mr. Blourock was sure that these were the furs that had been stolen from his firm. He made an appeintment to meet the young man that evening at the house, but sent Detectives Hanlon and Sloan, who arrested Morris. He told them that he had just received the furs from a cousin in Eigin, Ill.

At Jefferson Market Court yesterday he was held for examination.

Got Drunk After the Keeley Reunior A man helplessly drunk was found in the waiting room at the bridge entrance early yes terday morning by Policeman Harkins, who took him to the Oak street station. When he had sobered up the prisoner said he was Eugene Lane, 40 years old, and that he lived in Brooklyn. In the Tombs Police Court Lane told Justice Martin that he had been an inmate of the Keeley Cure Institute at White Plains for about a month, and had come to town on Wednesday night to attend a reunlou of Keeley graduates at Association Hall. He had no recollection of what occurred after the meeting. As he promised to return immediately to White Plains if released Justice Martin discharged him.

Billy McGlory May Be Dying, but Not Dying to Come Back to New York. Billy McGlery, the neterious, for whom Sheriff Gorman and his deputies have been on the lookout since the last day of February, has been heard from in Denver, where, it is reported, he is dying of consumption, the same disease that Tom Gould dedged Ludlow street disease that Tom Gould dodged Ludlow street pall on.

"I don't believe that McGiory is dying of consumption." said Lawyer David Leventritt, counsel for Lanahan & Co., the Baltimore whiskey desiers on whose judgment McGiory is wanted. "Of one thing I am sure, though, and that is that he is not dying to get back to New York.

Mr. Leventritt said that he is not surprised to hear that McGiory is in Denver, as he was informed by the latter's counsel, August Kohn, at the time of the ex-dive keeper's disappearance, that he had gone West with his wife.

McGiory is a fugitive because of an order issued by Judge H. P. McGown of the City Court directing his commitment to Ludlow street for contempt in refusing to pay a fine of $1,500 imposed on him for refusing to appear in supplementary proceedings under Lanahan & Co.'s judgment.

The examination showed that Mrs. Falkenback's death was not due to malpractice.

To Help the N. Y. Athlette Club's Building Fund.

The New York Athletic Club gave a circus at Dickel's Riding Academy yesterday afternoon for the benefit of the club's building fund, and they repeated the circus last night. It was more of a vaudeville performance than a cir-cus, however, and a dozen or more clever, ea-tertainers from the variety stage furnished the amusement in the ring. Emil Anthony gave an exhibition of high school riding, and there were broadsword combats, tumbling, and acro-batic feats.

danced to slow and pleasing music. To see the minuet at its very best, one needs to watch make arrangements for the transfer of the two pretty women as they step the measure with light and dainty steps and courtly bows and courtesies. The regular minuet dress is copied from the Watteau period, and consists of a white or pale-tinted silk, brocaded with floral patterns, and trimmed at the bottom with bows of ribbon. A pointed bodies of the brozade laces down the front, and is draped about the shoulders with mousseline de sole of white or bright colors, which are reproduced again in the full panniers arranged about the hips. It is only a sim woman that can wear this dress with any satisfaction to herself or any one else; but it is only the slim woman alast that can do anything involving graceful motion or picturesque costume. The gentleman's dress is of Louis XV, origin, the full-skirted coat of pink satin, edged with gold lines and ornamented, with gold buttons. The cravat and wrist rufles are of satin, the hose of white silk, and the three-cornered hat is of velvet, lined with satin and edged with gold.
